

Being triggered means: we perceive that we are in danger. Our nervous system gets in fight-or-flight mode, and this drains blood and oxygen away from our mindful brain. We need to pause, breathe & feel grounded, in order to get back our capacity to deal with the situation mindfully.

ActivePause.com